Dear Families,

With cold weather approaching, we wanted to make sure we are all prepared for if we need to work from home. If the school closes due to extreme cold or a snow day, students will need to log into our Google classrooms to complete their work for the day. We will be posting videos and activities for them to complete. They may need assistance with getting started and motivation to complete all their work but they should be able to do their work independently. Students will need to complete work online to ensure they are marked present for the school day. We will post all their work by 9 AM, and will be available for students and families via email (jwilcox@pv62.com and kolcott@pv62.com), GoogleMeets, and in our Google classrooms.

Overall, we will be posting one assignment for math, reading, language arts, science and social studies on an elearning day. We will also be sending home a packet of work in case the computers have an issue or there is no internet access. Please let us know if you have any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Jeanette Wilcox & Kate Olcott
